"... this side of Heaven"

"Clemson is just a little this side of Heaven — one stop before Heaven, you might say."

Those are the words of Joe Sherman '34 who gave 34½ years of service to his alma mater before he retired as the University's Director of Alumni Relations in June of 1977.

In actuality, Clemson University's 600-acre campus, located in the northwest corner of South Carolina, lies in the foothills of the Blue Ridge Mountains and is surrounded by the sparkling blue waters of Lake Hartwell. More than 70 modern, well-equipped buildings now occupy the area that once was Fort Hill, the homestead of U. S. Vice-President John C. Calhoun and University Founder Thomas G. Clemson.

The University's heritage is maintained, however, by the many old trees, lots of open green areas, and quiet walkways. From several points on campus and around this lovely college town, Lake Hartwell and the Blue Ridge Mountains provide a spectacular and inspiring view.

The Tillman clock tower, which is visible from just about everywhere on campus, and the Outdoor Theatre, which is the scene of concerts and pep rallies, are among traditional landmarks. They become comforting and familiar friends to everyone who becomes a part of Clemson.

The students, hailing from 46 states and 43 foreign countries, are offered 78 fields of study in nine undergraduate colleges, and 54 areas of graduate study.

The undergraduate academic units are the Colleges of Agricultural Sciences; Architecture; Education; Engineering; Forest and Recreation Resources; Industrial Management and Textile Science; Liberal Arts; Nursing; and Sciences.

Of the University's total enrollment of 11,478, the actual on-campus figure is 10,471, of which 61 per cent are male and 39 per cent female.

Sherman once wrote an article about Clemson on the theme that "There's Something In These Hills." It said, in part:

"There's something in these hills that brings together and binds together and holds together men and women of all persuasions, of all heights, sizes, weights, and cultural backgrounds — something that cuts across every difference, spans every gap, penetrates every wall — something that makes a man or a woman stand taller, feel better and say to all within earshot, 'I went to Clemson!' "

DR. BILL LEE ATCHLEY, Clemson President

When Clemson went searching for a new president to replace Robert C. Edwards, who retired last summer after 22 years at the University's helm, the selection committee found one candidate that stood above the crowd. Dr. Bill Lee Atchley possesses a list of credentials that is impressive and noteworthy. He boasts a history of involvement that not only includes his professional career but also extends beyond the campus.

Dr. Atchley came to Clemson from West Virginia University where he was Dean of the College of Engineering beginning in 1975. Under his direction, the Engineering Department achieved its highest enrollment in the history of the school, and became the largest research department at West Virginia. The Engineering Department received several grants from the federal government in the fields of energy research, occupational health and safety research, and personal rapid transit research due to Atchley's guidance.

While at West Virginia, President Atchley used his knowledge in the engineering field to work on some of the problems facing our country today. He served as the Chairman of Governor's Commission on Energy, Economy, and Environment as well as acting as the Science and Technology Advisor for the West Virginia House of Representatives and Senate. Atchley also served in a similar capacity for West Virginia Governors Rockefeller and Moore. Another committee that Atchley chaired was the state Environmental Committee.

President Atchley has received many honors stemming from his work in engineering. He was named to the list of Who's Who in Engineering Education and is a member of the Academy of Sciences and the Outstanding Educators of America. He even found the time to serve as the chairman of the American Society for Engineering Education in the Midwest, become a member of the American Society of Civil Engineers, and sit on the West Virginia Board of Registration for Professional Engineers.

Prior to his tenure at West Virginia, Atchley taught at the University of Missouri at Rolla from 1957-1975. He earned his undergraduate degree in Civil Engineering at Missouri in 1957 and finished his masters work in the same field in 1959 at Missouri. President Atchley then received his doctorate at Texas A&M in 1965.

A very active sports enthusiast, Atchley has a superior knowledge of athletics. His expertise is especially proficient in baseball, a sport he played professionally in the fifties with the New York Giant organization.

BILL McLELLAN, Athletic Director

During 1978-79 Clemson enjoyed its greatest all-around athletic year ever. Five Tiger teams won ACC titles and 18 of the 19 sports sent an individual or the entire team to post-season action. Athletic Director Bill McLellan has been the guiding force behind Clemson's meteoric rise on the national collegiate sports scene.

Only the third man to own the title of Athletic Director at Clemson over the past 46 years, McLellan was elevated to his present position February 4, 1971, following what had been more than a decade of service to the University's athletic organization.

A native of Hamer, S. C., the 47-year old McLellan graduated from Dillon High School and entered Clemson where he earned a pair of football letters, and was a member of the Tigers' 1952 Gator Bowl team.

He joined the athletic staff May 1, 1958 from Clemson's Department of Agricultural Economics and Seed Certification where he had spent one year as assistant agronomist and two years as assistant economist.

Although carrying the title of Assistant Business Manager, McLellan has been credited with handling the majority of the department's athletic business and operation long before his appointment into his present role.

In 1966, McLellan was named Assistant Athletic Director and two years later was appointed Associate Athletic Director.

During his reign as Athletic Director, Clemson's athletic program has experienced a major upheaval.

The Tigers can boast of the finest athletic facilities in not only the Atlantic Coast Conference, but in the South as well.

The modern and spacious Jervey Athletic Center is one of the most complete facilities in America, and this complex serves as the home for Clemson's 19 sports — 12 men's and seven women's.

The basketball Tigers play before packed crowds in attractive Littlejohn Coliseum, and many of the Clemson games are telecast on either regional or national networks.

And the football Tigers, after averaging better than 53,000 at home last fall, play in a remodeled Memorial Stadium this year that will hold some 63,000 people.

But conference titles and All-American honors have come to other sports as well. Last year, no less than five teams were ranked in the nation's top fifteen — tennis, football, fencing, soccer and baseball.

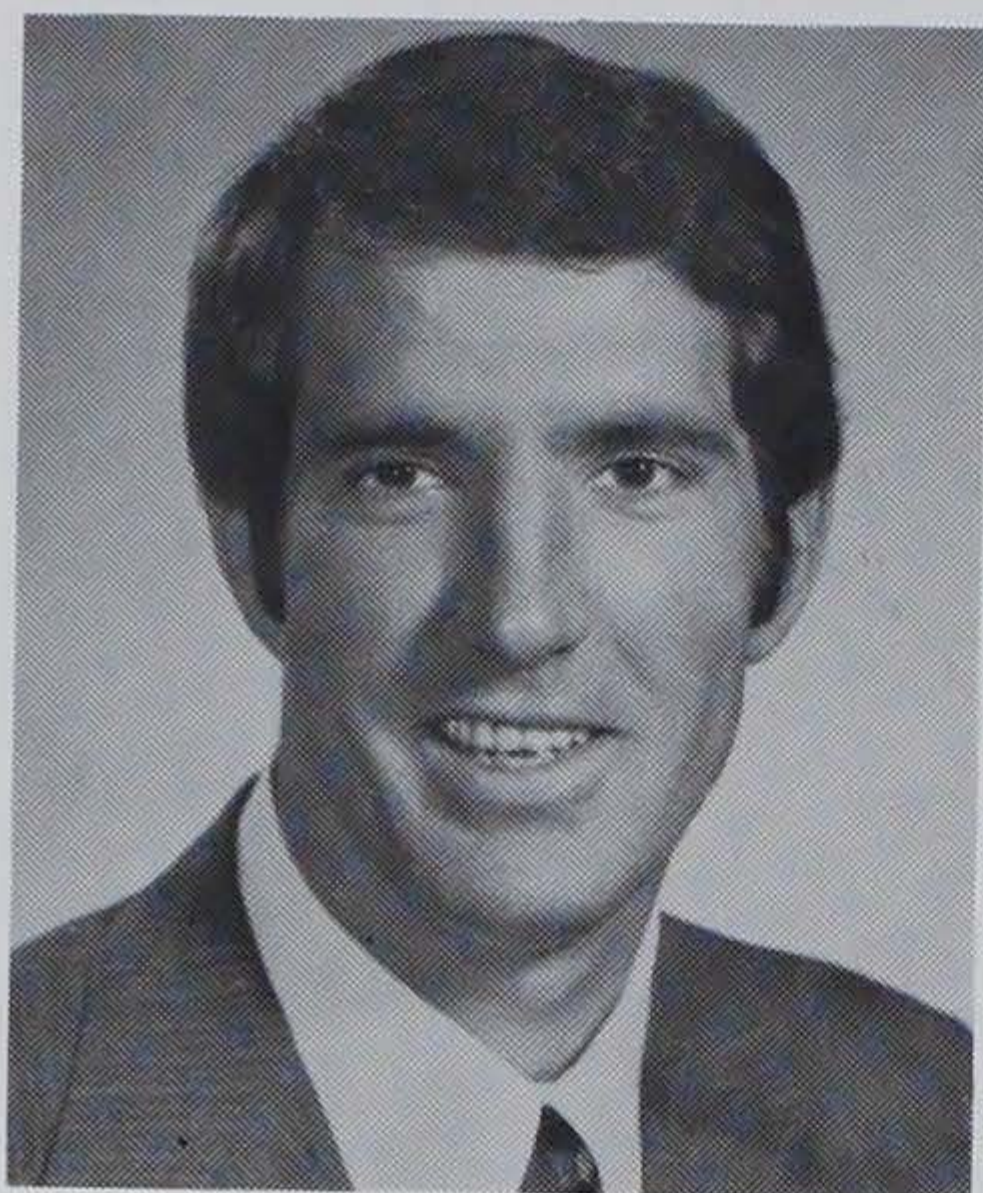

McLellan earned a BS degree from Clemson in agronomy in '54 and a master's in agricultural economics in '56. He is married to the former Ann Rogers of Fork, S. C. They have four children — Suzy, who just graduated from Winthrop; Bill, who graduated from Spartanburg Methodist College; Cliff, a junior at Tennessee Tech; and Arch Anna, a senior at Pendleton High School.

DANNY FORD, Head Football Coach

December 4th a year ago was one of those bleak, rainy afternoons around Clemson, just like any that can engulf a small town or a big city. The regular season had ended a week before, and Danny Ford and the rest of the Clemson assistants were already on the road recruiting new football players.

Little did Ford know that 24 hours later Clemson would be without a head coach and that 48 hours later, he would be named to handle the Tigers' destinies. And even more remote was the thought that a week later Ford would learn he would be leading Clemson against Ohio State in the Gator Bowl.

But all of these things happened in rapid fire order and thus Ford became the youngest head coach at a Division 1-A school, being 30 at the time. No other person has ever started his head coaching career leading a team in a post-season bowl game.

Ford, his coaching staff short three men because of resignations, regrouped his team and doubled up on coaching assignments. Clemson defeated the Buckeyes, 17-15, and their veteran coach Woody Hayes, who had been coaching longer than Ford had been living.

Off that Gator Bowl team Ford lost 25 seniors, including 15 starters, seven of whom later stuck with the pros. Few gave the '79 Tigers much more of a chance than a 5-6 or 6-5 season because of the tremendous graduation losses of so many skilled position players.

But the 1979 season is history and Ford and his Tigers are headed for their third consecutive post-season game, a date in the Peach Bowl opposite Baylor.

Ford played his football under Coach Paul "Bear" Bryant at Alabama, an offensive end his first two years and an offensive tackle as a senior.

A native of Gadsden, Ala., the 31-year-old earned his BS degree in industrial arts in 1970 and was awarded his MA in special education from Alabama in 1971. He was All-Southeastern Conference at tackle as well as an All-SEC academic selection. Ford served as team captain of the 1969 Alabama team.

Ford played in three consecutive bowls (1968 Cotton, 1969 Gator, 1969 Liberty) with the Crimson Tide. After graduation, he remained there as a graduate assistant for two years (1970-71) and was made a full assistant for the next two seasons (1972-73). The Tide went to four more post-season games while Ford was on the staff.

He then accepted a position of assistant coach on the new staff of Jimmy Sharpe in 1974 when Sharpe was named head coach at Virginia Tech. He remained there three seasons (1974-75-76), then came to Clemson in January, 1977, as assistant head coach and offensive line coach, a position he held for two seasons before being elevated to head coach.

Ford is married to the former Deborah Anderson of Attalla, Ala., and they are the parents of two daughters, Jennifer, 6, and Ashleigh, 4.

Sept. 15 Maryland at Clemson

(Regional TV)

Weather Clear, 81°

Attendance 52,168

Three second-quarter field goals by Dale Castro staked Maryland to a lead they never relinquished as the Terps went on to beat the Tigers 19-0. The Tiger defense had a season-high seven sacks, but the offense offered no help, and Maryland used 33½ minutes of the clock (the most by any opponent) to wear the Tigers down and get the win.

Weather Cloudy, 81°

Attendance 62,573

Clemson simplified its offense and ran straight up the middle of the Bulldog defense for a 12-7 victory. Marvin Sims had his best day ever in a Tiger uniform as he ran for 146 yards off 25 carries. The Tiger defense was awesome, keeping Georgia off the scoreboard until the last nine seconds of the game.

Clemson continued its overland assault between the tackles with a 17-7 win over Virginia. Lester Brown ran for two touchdowns, while the defense held Virginia's "Century Twins" (Tommy Vigorito and Greg Taylor) to 153 yards. The Cavaliers only had one sustained drive, and that led to their fourth quarter touchdown.

Nov. 3 Wake Forest at Clemson

(Regional TV)

Weather Clear, 64°
 Attendance 59,205

Clemson's defense completely shut down Wake Forest's high-powered offense as the Tigers routed the 14th-ranked Deacons 31-0. The Tiger defense turned in its best performance of the year as it intercepted three passes, one of which was returned 17 yards for a touchdown by Jeff Davis, blocked two field goal attempts, and held Wake Forest inside its own territory the entire second half.

Obed Ariri's record-tying four field goals proved to be the margin of victory as the Tigers beat North Carolina, 19-10. Tailback Lester Brown returned to the lineup after a three-game absence and rushed for 69 yards. This put him over 2,000 yards for his career, only the fifth Clemson back ever to do so. Clemson's defensive team held the Tar Heels to only 79 yards rushing on just 29 plays.

Nov. 17 Notre Dame at Notre Dame

Weather: Sunny, 61°

Attendance: 59,075

Clemson recorded possibly its biggest road victory in history with a 16-10 upset victory over Notre Dame. The Irish ran up a 10-point first half lead, but the Tigers battled back with a timely defense and a consistent offense in the second half. Obed Ariri kicked three field goals and quarterback Billy Lott scored on a 26-yard keeper. This was only the third time in 41 years that Notre Dame had lost its season's home finale.

Nov. 22 South Carolina at Columbia

Weather: Cloudy 74°

Attendance: 56,887

In a battle of two nationally-ranked, bowl-bound teams, South Carolina defeated Clemson 13-9 with an effective running attack and just enough passing to keep the defense honest. Jay Feltz backed the Tigers to their four with an 80-yard punt with 2:04 left and Clemson quarterback Billy Lott guided the Tigers to the Gamecock five where a fourth down pass fell incomplete. Obed Ariri scored all of Clemson's points with three field goals, giving him 10 in a row and Lott had his career high in passing, completing 14 of 21 for 199 yards.

SIMS HIGH IN NATIONAL PUNTING

Clemson punter David Sims enters the Peach Bowl ranked fourth in the nation in punting with a 44.4 average, three tenths of a yard out of second place and one yard out of first place. If Sims holds his average, he could knock one of the oldest records out of the Clemson book. All-American (1939) Banks McFadden currently holds the season punting mark of 43.5 yards.

ARIRI NATIONALLY RANKED

Obed Ariri, Clemson placekicker, is currently tied for seventh place nationally on field goals per game at 1.36. Ariri is now on a string of 10 consecutive field goals, having made four against North Carolina, three against Notre Dame and three against South Carolina.

The Clemson IPTAY Club

IPTAY, organized in 1934 by the late Dr. Ruppert H. (Rube) Fike, completed its 45th year this past June 30th. And for the 13th consecutive year, contributions exceeded those of the previous 12 months.

IPTAY stood for "I Pay Ten A Year" in the early days, and the first club's membership list included 185 members.

Today, more than 15,000 members form IPTAY, which because of inflation, now means "I Pay Thirty a Year."

Sometimes called "the finest collegiate scholarship club in America," IPTAY funds are used for the sole purpose of educating student-athletes. Not one single penny has ever been used for any other purpose.

For additional information, write Joe Turner, Executive Secretary of IPTAY, P. O. Box 31, Clemson, 29631.

Clemson Memorial Stadium — "Death Valley"

In the past 38 seasons, 28 teams have made appearances in Clemson Memorial Stadium, now pretty widely known as "Death Valley" eight teams (George Washington, Kentucky, Alabama, Georgia, Auburn, Texas A&M, Florida State, Maryland and Notre Dame) have an edge on the Tigers' home ground and five of these (George Washington, Kentucky, Florida State, Texas A&M and Notre Dame), have just played one game in Memorial Stadium.

Clemson has shutout opponents 33 times in "Death Valley" (Presbyterian 9 times; N. C. State 4; Wake Forest 4; Furman 3; Virginia, Citadel and Duquesne twice each; and VPI, Auburn, Duke, North Carolina, Texas Christian, Villanova and Maryland, once each). The Tigers have been shutout 11 times at home in 37 seasons, the last time being in 1979 when Maryland blanked Clemson 19-0.

Between the Maryland shutout in 1953 and the Duke blanking in 1962, the Tigers scored in 38 consecutive home games.

There have been three ties in 158 games played in the stadium, one with Mississippi State in 1949, one with Georgia in 1963, and the 1976 18-18 Duke deadlock.

In 1974 the field was named The Frank Howard Field of Clemson Memorial Stadium in honor of the Tigers' legendary coach Frank Howard.

School Colors and Nickname

The late William J. Latimer, a 1906 graduate of Clemson College, did some extensive research on the football program at his alma mater, and offered the following in regard to the school's nickname and colors:

Professor Walter Merritt Riggs, who coached Clemson's first varsity football team in 1896, and who also served as head coach again in 1899, is said to have "planted the seed" for the school's grid program.

In referring to the players from that first team, Latimer said, "Due to the lack of helmets and head protection they (the players) wore long hair. These long manes might have gained them the name of Lions had it not been for the orange and purple striped jerseys and stockings that resembled tigers. The latter nickname seemed to stick."

Latimer then observed about John Heisman's 1900 Clemson team: "They had been called Tigers early in their career. And Clemson used the insignia of a Tigers' head with bared fangs, with the motto 'Eat Em Up Clemson' before Heisman's day."

Latimer's findings are substantiated by the fact that Riggs had played football at Auburn (nicknamed Tigers) and that its colors were orange and blue.

The official colors of the school are Northwest Purple and Burnt Orange, with the predominant colors on today's athletic uniforms being orange and white.

Joe Sherman '34, former Clemson sports publicist, news bureau director, and director of Clemson's alumni relations, offered the following in his book, The Clemson Tigers, which was published in 1976:

"It is extremely doubtful that anyone can tell you with certainty how the Clemson colors swung from purple (and a rather pale purple, at that) and gold to what for several years was described as 'Northwestern purple and burnt orange.'

"But that the colors have changed, unofficially if not officially, is a fact and there is a story about it that is probably as good as any other explanation.

"It says that in the early years of Jess Neely's tenure, he found it almost impossible to get uniforms in purple and gold that would be 'color fast.' In other words, between constant exposure to both the weather and the washing machines, the purple and gold faded markedly and became difficult, if not impossible, to recognize for what they were supposed to be.

"So, working with professional color people in the school of textiles and with sporting goods manufacturers, Neely finally arrived at deeper colors (a slightly deeper purple and a gold that became orange) that were more color fast in that they held up better under the rays of the sun, the agitations of the washing machine and the carry-over from season to season."

Still, most people believe that the purple and orange are the true colors.

The Clemson Tiger was modified somewhat in the summer of 1970, and to separate him from the other tigers at other schools, the University adopted the Tiger Paw. The Paw did not replace the Tiger, but the two go hand-in-hand. or should we say hand-in-foot.
